

Please circle the letter corresponding to the correct answer. Name in Pinyin: _____

SECTION ONE: What we learn before we are born

1. According to the speaker, what are the things fetuses learn in the womb in addition to sounds?
 - A. Dreaming
 - B. Seeing the light
 - C. Discriminating tastes and smells
 - D. Blinking
2. What did the researchers find in an experiment conducted in Dijon, France?
 - A. Infants whose mothers consumed food and drink flavored with licorice-flavored anise during pregnancy showed a preference for anise.
 - B. Infants whose mothers played acoustic guitar during pregnancy were more likely to recognize a melody.
 - C. Infants whose mothers ate carrots during pregnancy showed a preference for carrot juice.
 - D. Infants whose mothers drank only plain water during pregnancy did not like carrot juice.
3. A fetus incorporates the following offerings – _____ – into its own body, making them part of its flesh and blood.
 - A. The air the mother breathes and the chemicals she's exposed to
 - B. The food and drink she consumes
 - C. The emotion she feels
 - D. All of the above
4. What is the bigger lesson a fetus is learning about in utero?
 - A. Beethoven's Symphony No.9
 - B. The world outside
 - C. Mozart's Magic Flute
 - D. Bach's Toccata and Fugue in D minor
5. What were the immediately apparent effects of the "Hunger Winter"?
 - A. Higher rates of stillbirths, birth defects, low birth weights, and infant mortality
 - B. Higher rates of mental disorders, birth defects, low birth weights, and infant mortality
 - C. Higher rates of traumatic brain injury, ear infections, low birth weights, and infant mortality
 - D. Higher rates of liver disease, clubfoot, low birth weights, and infant mortality

SECTION TWO: The danger of science denial

6. Which of the following adjective can best describe the speaker's attitude towards the debate between genetically engineered food and organic food? He thinks it is _____.
 - A. important.
 - B. unsettling.
 - C. stupid.
 - D. exciting.
7. The speaker uses tangerines as an example to show that
 - A. there were no tangerines at the beginning of human history.
 - B. people have been modifying genes over the last 11,000 years.
 - C. the debate between genetically engineered food and organic food is about words instead of science.
 - D. All of the above.

Please circle the letter corresponding to the correct answer. Name in Pinyin: _____

8. According to the speaker, what is NOT one of the objections people have regarding genetically engineered food?
- A. There are too many chemicals and pesticides.
 - B. It represents science.
 - C. It contains too many hormones.
 - D. It will result in companies patenting life and owning seeds.
9. According to the speaker, what would be the best solution to the food problem in Africa in the next few decades?
- A. Genetically engineered food.
 - B. Cassava.
 - C. Organic food.
 - D. Rice.
10. What does the speaker mean when he mentions “high-tech colonialism”?
- A. People should stop believing in anecdotes and start accepting scientific facts.
 - B. Vaccines are essential and people should not fight against them.
 - C. People from the developed countries should support the use of their advanced technology in helping countries with a food problem.
 - D. People should try to help prevent natural resources from being exploited by genetic engineering technology.

SECTION THREE: To find work you love, don’t follow your passion

11. Why didn’t the speaker turn his interest in martial arts into his job?
- A. His parents strongly disagreed with his decision to be a martial artist.
 - B. He discovered that being a martial artist could not bring him a financially secure life.
 - C. He did not have sufficient financial means to complete his training in martial arts.
 - D. He realized he was not talented enough to be a martial artist.
 - E. He suddenly lost interest in martial arts.
12. Which of the following statements is correct?
- A. In olden times, people often refused to do their parents’ jobs.
 - B. The speaker believes the current career advice needs improvement.
 - C. The speaker criticizes people in the 1980s for being too money-oriented in career choices.
 - D. Compared with people in the 1980s, the speaker’s generation receives better career advice.
 - E. None of the above.
13. Which of the following statements is INCORRECT?
- A. The speaker and his team cooperated with university researchers to conduct serious studies on careers.
 - B. “Follow your passion” became a popular phrase in the mid-1980s.
 - C. To follow one’s passion, one first needs to identify one’s greatest interests.
 - D. The speaker implies that “follow your passion” is no longer good enough as career advice.
 - E. None of the above.

Please circle the letter corresponding to the correct answer. Name in Pinyin: _____

14. Which of the following statements did the speaker NOT make about 8000hours.org?
- A. The organization (8000hours.org) has helped people with real career decisions.
 - B. The website collects information from books and career advisors to help job hunters.
 - C. Users can access career-related research findings on the website.
 - D. The founder of the website believes career-related research deserves attention.
 - E. None of the above
15. We can infer from the TED talk that people in the 1980s tended to regard _____ as their top concern for career choice.
- A. Interest
 - B. Social status
 - C. Happiness
 - D. Financial success
 - E. The speaker did not indicate what their top concern was.

This is the end of the quiz.

Be sure that you have put your name in pinyin, student ID, and section number on every page. Please wait quietly until your instructor or test monitor collects your answer sheet.